

GSA Schedule Compliance

For GSA Schedule contractors, having a GSA Schedule contract should be about more than getting a contract number. It should also be about complying with the rules and regulations that govern the program. But GSA Schedule compliance presents a formidable challenge for even the most sophisticated of companies. In fact, most companies don't even know where to begin to look for the over 60 requirements that should be an integral part of any company's GSA compliance program.

GSA's Office of Inspector General has increased enforcement of GSA rules and regulations in the last few years and with a focus on contractor abuse a hot topic in Congress, audits are only likely to increase. Is your company ready?
